GUN CLUB.

WEEKLY CUP SHOOT TOMORROW AFTERNOON

HARVEY AND BOBO HAVE TWO LEGS IN

Competition Promises to Be Close One—All Members Shooting in Good Form.

Tomorrow afternoon the weekly cup shoot of the Hawaiian Gun Club will be continued at the Kakaako traps, and as three men have now managed to get their names on the trophy, the competition is now getting exciting.

J. W. Harvey, who has two legs in for the cup, has only to win once more to make the beautiful prize his own personal property. The champion was under the weather for some weeks and could not take part in the shoot. He is much better now, however, and stands a good chance of making the third and last win as far as the present shoot is concerned.

S. Norton Bobo has also engraved his name a couple of times on the cup, and one more victory will entitle him to its permanent possession. Bobo has been shooting in fine form for some time past, and in condition tomorrow should shake things up when the clays begin to fly.

Odel is another shot who has won out in one of the weekly shoots, and if he should win once more the cup will have three claimants who are within touch of victory.

There are other possibilities in regard to the weekly cup shoot, and what at first looked like a dead sure thing for Harvey, who had two "legs in," has now assumed a rather open aspect, and it is hard to say how the final disposition of the trophy will figure out.

Deering and Spalding are two men who at times shoot excellently, and the latter has shown form in practice shoots that, if kept up in the cup shoots, would make even Champion Harvey do his level best to beat.

The shoot tomorrow will, as usual, be over the Leggett and old traps. The Leggett "birds" will be sprung at unknown angles, and the other "blue rocks" will all emerge at known angles. Most of the gun club members have become accustomed to the Leggett trap now, and they do just as good, if not better, work there than at the known angles.

Ten birds will be shot at both traps, and judging from the way the men are shooting at present, some records will be broken soon. Austin has not yet taken up with the game again, but it is rumored that he will once again have a shot over the traps. If he gets into form quickly there may be one more name added to the weekly cup trophy list.

The present competition has lasted much longer than was at first anticipated, and the interest is being

DOTS AND DASHES.

On Sunday next the new Kalili Park on Kamehameha Fourth road will be opened, and to celebrate the event a baseball game will be played between the "Fats" (Republicans) and the "Thins" (Democrats) of the Tenth Precinct, Fifth District. The Hawaiian band will be in attendance and a fine program has been arranged by Captain Burger. There will be a luncheon after the baseball game is finished and it promises to be the best ever.

The Yacht Night at the Empire theater is going to be the best ever and the program is growing longer every day. Some fine stunts are promised, and the songs will be the real dope. Billy Kerr has a couple of side splitters on tap and his turn should be a peach.

The tug-of-war still wends its weary way through the sporting program, but so far the event has proved to be a real hoodoo as far as the weather goes, and it is only necessary to mention the affair to bring down a deluge of rain.

The skating marathon at the Princess Rink is attracting a lot of attention, and the twenty-five men who start in the race will have a big crowd of spectators watching them for a certainty.

FISTIC.

SPORTING PARSON IN TRAINING CAMP

LIKES THE SPORT AND IS GAME TO SAY SO

Rev. P. R. Wedge Sees Barry at Work in Training Camp—Sums Up Boxers as Good Bunch.

When a minister of the gospel, who quotes from the Latin and Hebrew masters, visits a fight camp, there is large hope for the game of fisticuffs. And this happened recently when Pastor P. R. Wedge of Omaha, Neb., took a look at James J. Barry's heavyweight from Chicago, who was in training at the Seal Rock in preparation for his twenty-round fight with Jack Burns, the Salinas heavyweight, says the Evening Post.

The Rev. P. R. Wedge is a great devotee of the sport of the glove, and he expressed keen disappointment because Jim Barry only took on one sparring partner. The Rev. Wedge has been identified with the sport of the ring for several years, and he has even been seen in the ring as a referee.

That such a man would boost the sport is only natural, but coming from such a source it is a high tribute to the game of fisticuffs. "I can see nothing wrong in a high-class sparring match," said the Rev. Wedge. "Fact is I like the sport and I will be a spectator at the Jeffries-Johnson battle no matter what the price is, and I will sit as close to the riggside as I can get. I think boxing is a healthful sport," continued the pastor, "and I am one who believes in this form of exercise. Several years ago I had severe lung trouble," continued the pastor, "and I found that boxing aided my recovery to health and for this reason I am an ardent devotee of the sport of the glove."

"I took up boxing when I found it aided me," continued the pastor, "and I think that the sport is beneficial to all classes of persons. I will say that there are some points about the professional end of the game that I do not like, but all sports have their drawbacks, and I can see less injury in fighting than in any other sport." The Rev. Wedge is proud of the fact that he numbers among his acquaintances some of the greatest knights of the Queensberry realm. "I know Battling Nelson," said the man of the cloth, "and I think he is the ideal athlete."

"He is a good-living young man, and I wish that half the churchgoers took as good care of themselves as does a man like Nelson. Nelson told me that he neither drinks nor smokes," continued Pastor Wedge, "and I know that he has little use for profanity from the several profound conversations that I have had with him."

"All prize fighters must lead a clean life. To be successful this is necessary and the men who fall away from the rules of nature do not last long in the boxing game. I like the sport because it builds up the bodies of the men who follow it. There is no class of athletes who can compare with fighters as physical specimens, and this should be boost enough for any game."

Will Be Spectator.

The Reverend Wedge is here on a vacation and he says that he will be a spectator at the Jeffries-Johnson fight and at all other first-class contests that take place while he is spending his vacation.

"I am just taking a vacation from the church of which I am the pastor," explained the Reverend Mr. Wedge. "Though a minister of the gospel, I am a firm believer in boxing," declared the man of the cloth. "Look at the splendid physique of this man Barry," said the minister at the big fighter. "Isn't it rare to see such a specimen of manhood? If more men would take up the boxing sport we'd have more specimens of physically perfect men."

"I have always liked the sport of boxing. When I entered the University of Nebraska I earned my college expenses teaching boxing. Later while attending the Omaha Theological Seminary I taught boxing at the Omaha Y. M. C. A. and it helped pay my tuition. Later when I became a pastor I started a gymnasium and it helped many a young man build himself up. I refereed one boxing match in Omaha, which caused me to stand a church trial, but when I presented my arguments the accusing pastors withdrew their charges."

The Reverend Wedge watched all the evolutions of Barry with an eye of an expert and went over big Jim's good and bad points like a schoolmaster. "If that fellow was not so heavy around the waist line, I think he would make a champion," said the Reverend Wedge. "He is very speedy for a big fellow and he seems to have a wallop. I admire his style of boxing very much. In proper condition he is quite large enough to beat any man in the world. I want to see the fight. I'd like to see just how good this Barry is," concluded the Reverend Wedge.

MILITARY LEAGUE WILL BE MADE STRONGER

Something will have to be done with the Military Baseball League, and as the suggestion has been made that three games a month be played at Lethbrun, it may happen that the series will go on without any further pilikia.

The Cavalry boys have to go to some expense every time they come to town to play, and the gate receipts at the league grounds have been very poor. On the other hand, if the town teams visit Lethbrun they will have to dig up without any chance of getting anything back, as there is no gate money at Schofield Barracks.

The proposal to take the Fort Ruger lads in, is well thought of, and it is a pity that, right at the start, the Artillery were not invited to play in the series. However, the men who handle the big guns will probably now come in, and the series will take on new life.

It is rumored that Barry's Beauties—who won the championship of the military league last year—will again join in with the service boys, and in that case the play all round will be improved. The Hospital Co. play real ball, and although they may be a trifle strong for the rest of the teams, there will be some joy when they start.
